 Carlson Paving Products, Inc. Awarded the I Make America Pillar of the Industry Gold Award

Carlson receives award for second straight year.

TACOMA, WA – For the second consecutive year, Carlson Paving Products, Inc. has been awarded the I Make America Pillar of the Industry Gold Award at the Association of Equipment Manufacturers annual meeting in California. Carlson President Chris Colwell was present to accept the award, the highest honor given to participating members of the I Make America campaign.

“This award is a reflection of the continued hard work and dedication of all members of Team Carlson,” said Colwell. “To earn this distinction we had to pursue advocacy and outreach to show how American manufacturing is integral to our nation’s economy and families. This was made possible by the enormous amount of pride each and every member of Team Carlson displays in their work and their investment in manufacturing’s continued role in America’s economy.”

Colwell added, “At a time when Washington, D.C. is gridlocked and the need for vital reforms are desperately needed, I am glad that Carlson is an active participatory member of the I Make America campaign to show that investment in areas like infrastructure and energy directly supports American manufacturing jobs. At Carlson, we will continue to design and build world class products here in Tacoma, Washington and be proud to be a member of the American manufacturing community.”

The Pillar of the Industry Gold Award is awarded to members that complete activities that advance education and advocacy for American manufacturing. The I Make America campaign is part of the Association of Equipment Manufacturers, a trade association representing over 900 companies that serves and assists equipment manufactures in public policy, education, market support and various other areas.

Carlson Paving Products, Inc. has been a member of AEM since 2010 and a participatory member of the I Make America campaign since 2011.
